The diagram illustrates a cross-section profile of a landscape. The top line represents the 'vaste bodem' (fixed ground) in cyan, with elevation points marked. Below it, a black line indicates the 'slibbodem' (silt bottom). A red dashed line marks the 'as dwarsprofiel' (road cross-section). Green circles indicate the 'begin begroeiing' (start of vegetation). A green vertical line represents the 'haag' (hedge). A black line with cross-ticks represents the 'boerand' (farm boundary). Green circles with cross-ticks represent rows of trees: 'bomenrij van loofbomen' (deciduous), 'bomenrij van naaldbomen' (coniferous), and 'bomenrij van fruitbomen' (fruit). A black line with cross-ticks represents the 'duiker as' (culvert). A grey stippled area represents 'beton' (concrete), and a red stippled area represents 'metseiwerk' (masonry). A black line with cross-ticks represents the 'muurtje metseiwerk' (masonry wall). A black line with cross-ticks represents the 'gebouw' (building). A black line with cross-ticks represents the 'bergplaats' (berm). A black line with cross-ticks represents the 'kaaimuur' (cutting wall). A black line with cross-ticks represents the 'afsluiting algemeen' (general closure). A black line with cross-ticks represents the 'afsluiting beton + gladde draad' (concrete closure with smooth wire). A black line with cross-ticks represents the 'afsluiting beton + prikkeldraad' (concrete closure with barbed wire). A black line with cross-ticks represents the 'afsluiting hout + gladde draad' (wood closure with smooth wire). A black line with cross-ticks represents the 'afsluiting hout + prikkeldraad' (wood closure with barbed wire). A black line with cross-ticks represents the 'afsluiting betonpalen en -platen' (concrete pile and plate closure). A black line with cross-ticks represents the 'muurtje metseiwerk' (masonry wall). A black line with cross-ticks represents the 'hout' (wood). A black line with cross-ticks represents the 'metaal' (metal).
